

REPRESENTATION AND PARTICIPATION OF YOUNG PEOPLE IN AGRICULTURAL POLICY-MAKING

INSIGHTS FROM PERU

Despite being a significant part of the population, the voice of young people is underrepresented in public policies and decision-making in Peru. In this context and in response to the growing concern about the low participation of young people in agrarian spaces, the project "Agroecological Youth in Action for Peru" was born. The project aims to contribute to the empowerment of young people in rural areas.

Insights from Peru will be given by Eliana Antezana, coordinator and principal investigator of the research and development project "Agroecological Youth in Action for Peru". She is an agricultural engineer with a specialization in agroecology and participatory action research. Her talk will be followed by a discussion.

The event introduces the lecture series "Deliberative Sustainability Governance - Spaces - Actors - Knowledge " of the Forum Sustainability and is sponsored by the Human Dynamics Center of the JMU.
